Why use RumenWorks Dairy Lead Feed Concentrate?

▶ FACT: Contains high levels of Vitamin E to assist immunoresponse, or the cow/heifers ability to fight disease.

▶ FACT: The anionic salts lower blood pH which, through a series of internal processes, leads to mobilisation of calcium and phosphorus. The resulting higher blood calcium concentrations stimulate muscle contractions which helps prevent post calving metabolic disorders such as milk fever.

▶ FACT: Vitamin D3 have a very import role in ensuring Calcium balances are correct in early lactation

Inclusion Rate:

Optimum feeding rate is 250 grams/cow/day.

It is recommended to introduce RumenWorks Dairy Lead Feed Concentrate at half rate initially so they can become accustomed to the taste.

At least 10 days feeding is required, but typically 14 - 21 days prior to calving is recommended for success, especially given the typical variation between expected and actual calving dates.

Add 250 grams/cow to 2.3kg of crushed grain and 500 grams of canola; or

Add 250 grams/cow to at least 2 litres of molasses to spray on silage or hay; or

Sprinkle or mix 250 grams/cow with silage.

Provide sufficient silage to ensure adequate daily intake of the supplement.
